

NEW BONUS PLAN
OFFERED; TO USE
DEBT SETTLEMENTBase Plan On Principle Of Amortization; Wouldn't
Raise Taxation.FIFTY YEAR BOND ISSUE PROPOSEDSuggestion Comes From The Southern Commercial
Congress.

Washington, Feb. 21.—A new plan for financing the soldiers' bonus through use of the British debt settlement was proposed today by the Southern Commercial Congress.

The plan, based upon the principle of amortization, would finance the bonus without increasing taxation and without drain on the federal treasury by means of a bond issue to be paid off in 50 years at a cost of only $55,000,000 annually for every billion dollars paid the World War veterans.

It was designed to meet the objections raised by the late President Harding in his veto and by President Coolidge in threatening to veto the bill unless it included a method of payment.

The scheme was drafted by Clarence J. Owens, president of the Southern Commercial Congress, who composed the amortization table used by the United States and Great Britain in planning the British war debt settlement. Owens also prepared an amortization table for Germany's reparations payments.

Immediate cash for the bonus would be raised under Owens' plan by issuing bonds at five per cent interest. This rate would be higher than on any other government bonds, thus insuring a ready market. By adding one half per cent annually for payments on the principal, the government could pay off the total bonus cost in 50 years by annual expenditures of $55,000,000 for each billion dollars issued.

Cost To Government

If the bonus cost $2,000,000,000 annual payments would total $110,000,000 while a third billion would necessitate the raising of $165,000,000 a year to retire the principal and meet all interest payments for 50 years. The annual cost, Owens proposed, could be met by diverting war debt payments by Great Britain or of other nations.

In other words, Owens' plan would permit financing the bonus with the expenditure of only $4,000,000 a year from the treasury if its total cost was $2,000,000,000 and if no further debt settlement were entered. If the total bonus cost were less than three billions, the British debt payments alone could finance it.

"If this plan is adopted, then Congress would not find it necessary to raise taxation nor find new sources of revenue nor appropriate money coming into the treasury from the usual sources," Owens said. "It would be necessary only to apply to the annual payments a part of the annual amortization to be received from Great Britain."

MAYOR WILL AID
YOUNG COASTERSWants Volunteers To Help
Guard Streets; Asks
Autoists To Aid.

Children in Salem have a friend in Mayor J. B. Schaeffer. His honor remembers that he was a boy, and for that reason wants all "kids" in the city to enjoy this snowy season of winter sports.

Beginning Friday night the mayor wants Boy Scouts and any other boys that will volunteer to help guard Roosevelt ave., especially at Howard and Jennings, so that all children can use Roosevelt ave. for coasting.

The mayor asks that all drivers of motor cars proceed along the street slowly so that there will be no accidents. Mayor Schaeffer believes that drivers will do this willingly so that the youngsters may have their fun. Coasters are not, however, to take over half of the street.

On other streets in the city where there is no danger the mayor approves of coasting, but asks that guards stand at various points to warn coasters or autos when necessary.

35 Autos Damaged
In Columbus Blaze

Columbus, Feb. 21.—Fire early today damaged 35 automobiles in the Blue Ribbon Auto Livery and routed occupants of two apartments from their beds. Loss was estimated at $15,000.

Fireman Raymond Radel was twice overcome by smoke, receiving injuries in a fall down a stairway the second time. He had returned to fight the blaze after being revived from the first attack.

The oil scandal is still attracting international attention, with the calling to the witness stand of E. B. At the same time United States Senator Irvine L. STAR OWNERS
SUE VANDERLIPPublishers Charge Libel
And Slander In Suit
For $600,000.

New York, Feb. 21.—Roy D. Moore and Louis H. Brush, joint owners of the Marion (Ohio) Star, have filed suit in regeera court against Frank A. Vanderlip, retired banker, for $600,000 damages alleging slander and libel as a result of the banker's purported utterances in an address at Cincinnati on Feb. 12.

Three separate causes of action asking $200,000 damages each were set in the papers served on Mr. Vanderlip. The action was taken, according to the papers, on account of Mr. Vanderlip's statements in which he implicated the sale of the Marion Star in the "oil scandal."

The first cause sets forth that Mr. Vanderlip "wickedly and maliciously charged Brush and Moore with bribing Warren G. Harding, then president of the United States, to fail to perform certain of his official duties as president, and that the bribe consisted in the payment to former President Harding of $550,000 in the purchase of the Marion Star, which was more than twice its face value."

The Vanderlip speech, it was charged, was recorded as an attack upon the integrity of the late President Harding by implying that the sale of the late president's newspaper was involved in the naval reserve oil leases investigation.

The defendant's statement, it was further charged, accused the plaintiffs of "being financially irresponsible and insolvent and not able to meet their financial obligations, and not entitled to credit." It was charged that the statements injured the plaintiffs and their newspaper.

The second cause of action was based upon the charge that Mr. Vanderlip caused his speech to be printed in the New York Tribune.

The third cause is based upon the admission of Mr. Vanderlip before the senate investigating committee that he approved the copy of the speech which was presented to him in his office in New York on February 12 by a representative of The Associated Press and which speech later was delivered to associate press members.

It was alleged in the complaint that Mr. Vanderlip thus gave his speech worldwide publicity and that it was read by millions of persons.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The Democratic insurgent coalition, which resulted in wresting control of tax reduction legislation from the Republican majority in the house and the defeat of the Mellon plan, was reported to be weakening under pressure from Republican leaders.

It was asserted that two or three of the Republicans who had lined up with the coalition had been won over by the regular Republicans and would go along with them in an effort to be made later to substitute the Mellon plan for the Garner plan which has been written into the bill.

This opportunity will come when the perfected bill is reported to the house for passage. There were 19 Republicans who voted for the Garner plan. Additional converts must be made if the Mellon plan is to triumph finally in the house.

Republican leaders are telling those demonstrating a soldier's bonus that adoption of the Garner plan kills every possible chance of a bonus because the treasury will be left bare. Many of the insurgents are strong supporters of bonus legislation.

Tax Bill Taken Up

The tax bill was taken up today with indications of a number of stiff fights ahead on several sections. One of the most stubborn of these will come when the attempt is made to repeal existing taxes on automobile repair parts, tires and accessories and a reduction from 5 to 5 1/2 per cent in the tax on trucks of two tons or less carrying capacity.

The repeal and reduction of these taxes are demanded by the farmers. The fight for this change in the bill will be led by Representative McLaughlin, Republican of Michigan, member of the ways and means which prepared the tax bill. The automobile taxes yielded about $153,000,000 and cuts proposed would reduce this yield to $100,000,000.

Other contests will arise over efforts by Frear, Republican, of Wisconsin, to incorporate in the bill an excess profit tax, a tax on undistributed profits and a gift tax, and to substitute for the existing estate tax a new and higher schedule for such taxes, prepared by Ramsayer, Republican, of Iowa.

Garner, the Democratic tax leader, has announced his purpose to support the Ramsayer estate tax plan.

NOTED VIOLINIST
COMING FRIDAYBaritone And Pianist Will Assist Irene Stolofsky
In Concert Here.

Irene Stolofsky, the marvel violinist who is to be heard on the M. E. Sunday school entertainment course, Friday night, is to be assisted by George Imbrie, baritone and Magdalen Massmann, pianist.

In recent seasons Miss Stolofsky has been one of the musical sensations of the Redpath list, as well as understood when she is heard in some of the world's greatest violin numbers. Her encore selections further endear her to her hearers, for she chooses from such delightful numbers as "Annie Laurie," "Swanee River," and Sarasate's "Bacchante."

Following Miss Stolofsky's appearance on the Ohio University series, Prof. T. N. Hoover reported, "The largest audience that ever attended a jockey number here was unanimous in praising Miss Stolofsky and her artists. She compares favorably with Maud Powell, who gave a recital in the same auditorium four nights later."

J. WILLIAM FILSON

In his concert with Mary Virginia Patterson, noted pianiste of New Castle, Pa., at the High School auditorium next Tuesday evening, J. William Filson, noted baritone of Salem, will make his last public appearance in Salem this year.

Filson is arranging this concert for the benefit of the American Legion. He has many concert engagements this year in Pennsylvania, which will carry him into the middle west. He is scheduled for a recital in May in the Auditorium in Canton.

Filson's work as a baritone and a voice teacher has attracted wide attention. He is now directing a large church choir in Canton, where he also conducts a studio.

RELIGIOUS CRANK
SAYS HE KILLED
PARENTS, SISTERSCommitted Crimes To Wash
Away Sin Against Holy Ghost, Boy Says.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 21.—Frank McDowell, who said he killed his mother and his father and two of his sisters to wash away a "sin against the Holy Ghost," was confined today in the Pinellas county jail at Clearwater, Fla., under a heavy guard.

The 19-year-old boy was being watched closely in fear that he would take the final step in this horrible three-fold scheme to wipe out all members of his family in order to atone for his "sins." The final act he told police would have been the taking of his own life one year from yesterday, by drowning.

One year ago yesterday the anniversary of his "sin against the Holy Ghost," he offered his two sisters as a burned offering to subdue the wrath of an "unjust God."

This happened at Decatur, Ga., where he ignited a gasoline soaked mattress upon which the two girls slept, and then locked them in the burning room.

He took the lives of his father and mother as a second step in his "blood cleansing" pact. They both were shot to death as they slept.

The confessed sinner said he "blasphemed against the Holy Ghost" on Feb. 19, when he was 15 years old. This date ever since, he said, his mind became hazy and he felt that some atonement was necessary.

Explaining his reference to the "anti-Christ" in the confessions, the youth insisted that his sisters were rollovers of the "false Christ," and that this was the cause of their death. His parents also were allied with "this false God," he said.

Senator Wheeler, who sponsored the proposed investigation announced this morning he would force a test vote upon his resolution during the day.

Pressure Exerted
On President To Remove DaughertyCoolidge Holding Firm To Demand For Fair Trial
For Daugherty.SENATE WILL VOTE
ON INVESTIGATIONAttorney General Repeats
He Is Not Guilty Of Any Crime.

Washington, Feb. 21.—To the charges already made against Atty. Gen. Harry M. Daugherty in connection with his administration of the Department of Justice, was added the further charge this afternoon that he had dealt in Sinclair Oil stock through a New York brokerage house.

Washington, Feb. 21.—A sword of Damocles, with its thread in the hand of President Coolidge, dangled today over the political head of Atty. Gen. Harry M. Daugherty.

Tremendous pressure was being exerted on the president from every side—in name of party expediency—to sever the string by demanding Daugherty's resignation in the face of charges of malfeasance in office.

The president apparently is holding firm to a promise that the attorney general will remain in the cabinet until he has had a fair trial, on charges leveled at his conduct of the Department of Justice.

The senate overwhelmingly opposed to the attorney general, was moving toward enactment of the Wheeler resolution authorizing an investigation of Daugherty's record and into sensational charges of corruption made by Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana. It was predicted in senate cloakrooms that the resolution would be enacted by nightfall.

Convinced meanwhile that the president would not weaken in his determination to give Daugherty a fair chance to vindicate himself, Republican party leaders turned their gaze directly upon the attorney general.

Guilty of No Crime

To plead that he voluntarily resigned for "the good of the party," and as a means of quieting Democratic attacks the attorney general turned a deaf ear. He was reported to have told his advisers that he was guilty of no crime and that the hounding of critics could never drive him out of office.

The attorney general's defiance of his foes was reported to the senate today by Senators Lodge of Massachusetts and Pepper of Pennsylvania, who went to the White House late yesterday to advise his removal. The president was said to have told the senators that while perfectly willing for Daugherty to resign voluntarily he could not demand the resignation of his entire Republican membership, only a handful of senators openly in favor of continuing Daugherty in office. These were Senators Willis and Fess, from his home state of Ohio; Senator Watson of Indiana and Senator Moses of New Hampshire.

They contended the attorney general was entitled to a fair trial before being condemned, that no charges had been proved against him and that rather than failing to prosecute criminals, Daugherty had brought so many prosecutions as to practically paralyze the limited federal judiciary—a condition for which Congress itself was responsible.

Senator Wheeler, who sponsored the proposed investigation announced this morning he would force a test vote upon his resolution during the day.

The great American was George Washington, said Rev. Miller, and he had as his ideal the future America. He constantly thought of his country, and of the good he could do for it.

What we need today, stated the pastor, is more real Americans. To be a true American, he said, a person must think right and have the welfare of his country at heart constantly, and he will succeed in being a true American, no matter of what creed, race, or color he may be.

The speaker urged that all American citizens think more of the good Washington accomplished, thinking of the other fellow and of our country, and having the future America as our ideal, striving to do all we can to uphold laws and constitution of the United States and work for a better bigger America.

R. W. Fawcett introduced the speaker, and had charge of the meeting. Next week B. L. Flick will have charge.

STATE TO LIMIT
COMMISSION FOR SALE OF STOCKS

Columbus, Feb. 21.—Sweeping reduction in commissions to be permitted for stock and bond sales was announced by Norman E. Beck, superintendent of the state division of securities, late yesterday.

The cut will mean not more than 10 per cent commission for stock sales and a maximum of six per cent on bonds. The order is in accord with a decision of Attorney General Crabbe authorizing the securities department to fix the minimum commissions.

Beck defends his action in the declaration that Ohio investors will be afforded increased protection by lesser commissions. Assets of the corporation for which they are floated will be subsequently strengthened, he contends.

FLIER REMAINS
7 MINUTES OVER
MOUNT VESUVIUS

Naples, Feb. 21.—Umberto Romagnoli, daring aviator-photographer of the International Reel, who established a world's record by flying for seven minutes over the crater of Mount Vesuvius, had completely recovered today from his hazardous exploit.

When the seaplane, carrying Romagnoli and a companion disappeared in the smoke and steam over the crater, a report was spread that Romagnoli had lost his life.

The failure of the seaplane to reappear within a reasonably short time appeared to confirm the report of the tragedy.

During the flight, Romagnoli took a number of photographs of the crater.

ALAN ADDRESSES

Program Given At Joint Social.

An unusually good program, with J. S. Alan, superintendent of schools, giving a splendid address on "Washington and Lincoln" was presented at a patriotic social held Wednesday evening by Trecoott post No. 10, G. A. R. and its allied orders at the hall, Broadway.

About 100 people were interested in the event. Here are the numbers:

Song, "America"; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, G. H. Mounts; violin and piano duet, Ralph Kircher and Glen Arnold; talk on "Lincoln," Dr. A. C. Vengling; recitation, Ruth Bentley; selection by a quartet composed of Margaret and Vivian Cowgill, Corinne Myers and Wilda Bolen; vocal solo, Mrs. James Briggs; reading, William Bentley; acrobatic solo, Wilda Bolen; address, Mr. Alan; song, "Star Spangled Banner."

After a lunch was served there was a social period, features of which were a flag rally; singing of "Yankee Doodle" backwards by a group of girls. By request Mrs. Alice Courtney and Mrs. Cora Schwartz sang "Mt. Vernon Bells."

Hold Up Messenger,
Steal Bank's Money

Parkersburg, W. Va., Feb. 21.—A messenger of the Citizens National bank was held up in broad daylight this morning by two automobile bandits who made their escape with $1,400 in cash, all new one dollar bills, following their attempt to kidnap the messenger.

Herman Buskirk, 17, the messenger, had left the postoffice where he had obtained the bank's mail and the package of money when an automobile swung in front of him as he crossed a business district street intersection. He was ordered to enter the machine.

When he failed to do so, one of the men grabbed the package of money and the car sped away.

Truth And Tact

THE story is told of a Kansas editor who resolved, one week to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. This is what he wrote on Monday:

"Married, Miss Sylvia Rhode to Mr. James Canham, last Sunday evening at the Baptist church. The bride was an ordinary town girl who didn't know any more than a rabbit about cooking and never helped her mother three days in her life. She is not beautiful by any means and has a gait like a duck. The groom has been a loafer, living off the old folks all his life and doesn't amount to shocks and they're going to have a hard life while they live together."

Truth is not synonymous with tactlessness. Tact is not necessarily deceit. Candor, or frankness, is commendable only when it helps, not when it merely hurts.

When we can say nothing good of anyone, it is best to say nothing. That is true of the individual and of the newspaper. To point out personal frailties is useful or justifiable only when some purpose or other worthy end is to be served. But the good must be much more important than the hurt by means of which it is achieved.

Montaigne, who flourished three and a half centuries ago, remarked that "Truth has not the privilege to be spoken at all times and in all sorts." But that we refrain from speaking truth does not require that we speak a falsehood. What is more to the point, the Kansas editor was likely "not speaking the truth. What he wrote probably was not fact, but merely his opinion. It is important to all of us that we make that distinction. None of us can be always sure of our opinions.

Movie Sufferers Avenged

THE movie public, bred in toleration, arose in one great amen when a Detroit judge fined three youths for reading aloud the screen titles in a moving picture theater. Without a doubt this benevolent judge has endeared himself to thousands in Detroit, and in the eyes of the rest of the nation has set an example worthy of emulation by others.

There are many kinds of pests, but few quite so irritating and exasperating as the cinema "loud-speakers." To be sure, there are no actors at the movie to be interrupted by that breed of humans, which knows how to read without talking, but there are some people who enjoy thinking even in a movie theater, and these latter are annoyed to the verge of revolt by the disturbing element of non-thinking talkers. That there are persons who talk holistically in the darkened movie, and persons who are disturbed by unconstrained conversation in the house of the silent drama, convinces the observant that humanity is divided between the hopelessly thoughtless and the hopefully thoughtful.

Lower Power Rates

FOR the second time within a year the Salem Lighting Co. has voluntarily reduced light and power rates in Salem. This is in accordance with its promise to city council that rates would be reduced whenever conditions justified. It's action is an evidence of good faith and gives the consumer confidence that his interests are being given consideration. When the present contract expires city council might have forced a reduction, but the company has played fair in not holding the city to its contract.

McAdieu went to Chicago, conferred with himself, and decided it was his consensus of opinion that there was a unanimous demand on the part of himself that he continue to think that he is running for president.

It seems to matter little these days what is being investigated, just so another investigation is set in motion. Tex Rickard holds the stage in the latest so-called investigation.

And yet, think how dull and profitless life would be for the knockers if there were no successful men.

Iowa Physician Makes Startling Offer To Catarrh Sufferers

Found Treatment Which Healed His Own Catarrh and Now Offers To Send It Free To Sufferers Anywhere

Davenport, Ia.—Dr. W. O. Coffee, Suit 834, St. James Hotel Bldg., this city, one of the most widely known physicians and surgeons in the central west, announces that he found a treatment which completely healed him of catarrh in the head and nose, deafness and head noises after many years of suffering. He then gave the treatment to a number of other sufferers and they state that they also were completely healed. The doctor is so proud of his achievement and so confident that his treatment will bring other sufferers the same freedom it gave him, that he is offering to send a 19 days' supply absolutely free to any reader of this paper who writes him. Dr. Coffee has specialized on eye, ear, nose and throat diseases for more than thirty-five years and is honored and respected by countless thousands. If you suffer from nose, head or throat catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises, send him your name and address.—Adv.

Keeping Up the Standard.

The social caste of customers is not commonly supposed to be regarded in quick-lunch restaurants, but a Philadelphia paper tells this story: "A fastidious person made his way into a steaming fly-infested little restaurant. The young woman behind the counter placed a number of water before him with a thump.

"What's yours?" she asked sharply.

"Coffee and rolls."

She set before him a mug a quarter of an inch thick and as heavy as iron, filled with a brown fluid. The man seemed dazed. He looked under the mug and over it. "But where is the saucer?" he asked.

"We don't give no saucers here," replied the waitress. "If we did some low-down'd come pilla' in and drink out of his saucer, and we'd lose a lot of our best customers."

Makes The Deaf Hear

Remarkable Invention Enables the Deaf to Hear All Sounds Clearly

Everyone who is troubled with deafness in any form will be interested in the announcement of the Photo-graph Products Corporation, Suite 917A, Cleveland Discount Building, 811 Superior Avenue Cleveland, Ohio, that they have at last perfected a device which will enable every one whose auditory nerve is not entirely destroyed to hear as perfectly as one whose hearing is normal.

As they thoroughly they send it to a number of people who had been deaf for years and they report most gratifying results. Many state that they hear the slightest sound with perfect ease and that their natural hearing has been greatly improved. The manufacturers are so proud of their achievement and so confident that every deaf person will be amazed and delighted with it that they offer to send it to anyone by prepaid parcel post on ten days' free trial. They do not ship C. O. D. nor do they require any deposit, but send it entirely at their own risk and expense, allowing the user ten full days to try it and decide whether they want to keep it or not.

As there is no obligation whatever, everyone who is troubled with deafness in any form should take advantage of this liberal free trial offer. Just send them your name and address for descriptive literature and free trial request blank.—Adv.

CO-OP STORES NOT ILLEGAL

Question Up to University Trustees for Decision.

CRABBE RENDERS AN OPINION

Majority of Ohio Congressmen in Favor of Publicity in Regard to Income Tax Returns—Senator Willis Sees Former Governor Cox as Democratic Presidential Nominee—Donahy's Ouster Suit Comes Up Soon.

Columbus, Feb. 21.—Attorney General C. C. Crabbe in a recent ruling said the question whether the students' co-operative supply store shall continue at the Ohio State university or be abolished in accordance with petitions of merchants in the neighborhood, is up to the university trustees for decision. The matter was taken up with the attorney general by a committee of the trustees, which sought to ascertain the legal phase of the matter.

According to the opinion of the attorney general former opinions of Attorney General Price and the supreme court place the regulation of this activity up to the trustees. No statute by which it could be discontinued by outside authority is on the books, it is said.

The co-operative store had its first fight three years ago, when merchants in the university region, claiming unfair competition, attempted to enjoin operation of the students' enterprise in the supreme court, but lost. The store grew in size to a business of $75,000 a year. Early last year, after protests again came in to Governor Donahy, he asked trustees to investigate, and as a result the organization was slightly changed. Preferred stock was retired and $1 membership fees discontinued.

Store owners, however, began another drive against the store a few weeks ago, petitioning the trustees to abolish it because of "injury to legitimate competing merchants and land owners." No action was taken by the trustees other than to name the committee, which put the matter up to Attorney General Crabbe. That committee, composed of President Thompson and Business Manager Carl E. Steeb, will now inform the trustees at their next meeting that disposition of the petition and that the students' counter-petition is up to them.

Senator Willis in a statement made at the national capital foresees James M. Cox, former governor of Ohio, as the Democratic nominee for the presidency this year. As Willis sees it the old lease investigation has reduced William G. McAdoo's presidential prospects. Willis added:

"It is evident the next campaign will be fought out largely on the issue of the campaign and, that being the case, Cox is the natural and logical Democratic leader. No one can deny that he has kept the faith for he never has wavered for a moment in his advocacy of the league of nations. I can not be accused of entertaining any prejudice in Governor Cox's favor, but I believe I see the Democratic situation as it really is. In my opinion, James M. Cox is the man whom President Coolidge will have to beat."

In an address here before the Buckeye Republican club, J. Adam Bede, former Minnesota congressman, declared that Minnesota has not gone "red," nor do the farmers of that state. "The farmers of that state," said Bede, "have a grievance. And Magnus Johnson represents that grievance in the United States senate. Magnus is no bad man, but he has not had proper training to be a senator." Bede blamed the Minnesota primary system for present political conditions in that state.

Publicity in regard to all income tax returns is favored by a majority of the Ohio delegation in congress and they will get behind an amendment to be proposed to the tax reduction bill.

Representative John L. Cable, of Lima, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, indicated that he intends to vote for publicity of income tax returns. "It would not hurt business and would increase the revenues," he declared.

Representative James T. Begg of Sandusky, right-hand man of Representative Nicholas Longworth, whip of the house, has come out in favor of publication of income tax returns. "My personal and property taxes are a matter of public record in my home county," said he, "and as far as I am concerned anybody may know all about my income. What is there about an income tax return that makes it more sacred than any other kind of a tax return?"

Representative John C. Speaks of Columbus said: "Pitiless publicity in regard to all transactions with the government is the best policy. I know there are calamity howlers who pretend to see great injury to business in case income tax returns throw open to the public."

The Ohio delegation in the national house is divided over the proposed constitutional amendment that would prohibit all states and local subdivisions from issuing tax-exempt securities. Fifteen members of the delegation voted for the submission of such an amendment to the states, six voted against it and one member, who was indisposed, was not in the house when the vote was taken. The delegation divided as follows:

In favor of submission—Longworth, Stephens, Fitzgerald, Thompson, Kearns, Brand, Foster, Underwood, Speaks, Moore, McSweeney, Morgan, Burton, Murphy and Cooper. Opposed to submission—Cable, Sherwood, Begg, Davey, Crosser and Mooney. Representative Cole, who did not vote, said he was for the local units.

State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald scored public officials who refuse to enforce the prohibition laws. In a speech here he said such officials should be required to take a new oath of allegiance and be baptized with the spirit of patriotism.

McDonald appealed to his hearers to give encouragement to public officials, who were doing their duty. "It is one way of doing your share in obtaining orderly government," he said. He also declared that the foreign population is responsible for many violations of the prohibition laws, and urged an intensive Americanization program. "If they refuse to respect the laws they should be put on the first boat and sent back to the country from which they came," McDonald declared.

Attorney General Crabbe, author of the Crabbe prohibition act, and Rev. Thomas M. Hare, superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, are a issue as to the innocence of William L. Anderson, lately New York Anti-Saloon league superintendent. Neither do they agree as to the seriousness under Ohio laws of the dead ender who was convicted in New York.

Superintendent Hare, speaking before local ministers recently, said he didn't believe Anderson was guilty and that, furthermore, the acts to which he was sentenced to prison did not even constitute a misdemeanor under Ohio laws.

Attorney General Crabbe said Anderson's defense was "so flimsy and ridiculous" that any unbiased person must believe him guilty. "If the act he committed aren't considered serious offenses under Ohio laws, it is high time the laws are changed," Crabbe added. "I believe, however, the present criminal laws are comprehensive enough that Anderson's act would be found more than a misdemeanor in this state."

The Cleveland chamber of commerce is authority for the statement that local, state and federal taxes cost the average citizen of Ohio $13 a year. In a pamphlet issued by the chamber it is asserted that 79 per cent of the savings accumulated in the country were absorbed by government in 1923, and 69 per cent in 1922. In Ohio since 1900 the rate of taxation has increased 10 times as fast as population.

Characterizing the increasing burden of taxation as a grave menace to the economic well being of the nation, the report suggests three methods of reducing it, as follows: Reduce the number of governing bodies in the country; adopt a "pay-as-you-go" policy for short-lived capital improvements; enact a tax law on bank deposits to be collected by the bank and a mortgage recording tax to be paid when the mortgage is collected. Also have the automobile tax collected when the license is obtained.

The report advocates a reappraisal of real estate and strict observance of statutory debt limitations.

Signatures to petitions protesting against the new toll rates proposed by the Ohio Bell Telephone company are being solicited by the State Citizens' association, whose secretary, R. K. Smith, announces that up to date more than 2,000 signatures have been secured. These petitions are to be filed with the public utilities commission when that body resumes consideration of the rate case on Feb. 25. This meeting will be attended by members of the association, who have engaged counsel to represent them at the hearing.

The association's petitions declare that the proposed increase is unjustifiable when the general tendency seems to be toward a reduction in all other lines of endeavor. The association, in newspaper advertising next week, will appeal to the public to join in its fight. Protest coupons will be attached to the ads and these are to be mailed to the organization's headquarters in Columbus.

Governor Donahy's suit to oust George T. Poor of Cincinnati as a member of the state public utilities commission comes up for hearing in Ohio supreme court next Wednesday. Poor was asked by the governor to resign shortly after Donahy took office, but Poor refused. Sometime later Donahy appointed Commissioner C. C. Marshall, Democrat, as chairman of the utilities commission in Poor's place. Suit to oust Poor from the commission entirely was instituted shortly thereafter. Donahy's contention is that Poor for a time owned stock in the Cities Service company, and is therefore legally disqualified for membership on the commission. It will be up to the supreme court to decide, the issue never having been settled before in Ohio.

E. B. McLean Is Summoned In Oil Inquiry.

Edward Beal McLean, Washington newspaper publisher and multi-millionaire, pictured at Palm Beach, Fla., from which he was summoned to Washington as a witness in the oil lease inquiry. It was testified that McLean had loaned the $100,000 to Albert B. Fall, though later it came out that the money had actually come from E. L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate.

Traffic Law Really Is Aid to Motor Driver

The traffic law deals with two classes of drivers. There is the man who is bent only on beating the game, who will violate all the laws with a light heart if he thinks he can get away with it, or if the penalty seems less than the immediate profit. The law must deal with the problem of catching, restraining and penalizing this irresponsible driver; and in dealing with him, harshness should be the keynote.

On the other hand, by far the larger proportion of motorists come in contact with the law only in what should be its beneficent aspects. To them, the law need be only a set of agreed upon principles for insuring that all of us drive to the least interference with any of us. It specifies certain equipment which we must carry, not with the view of forcing us to carry it, but in order that we may have a convenient and authoritative standard of reference. It prescribes the manner of our driving, in general and in particular circumstances, not with the idea that we need to have a club held over us, but again so that each of us may have a standard by which to forecast the probable conduct of the other fellow.

In defining and enforcing these and other necessary standards, the law can afford to err on the side of lenience. It can often correct without penalizing. It can even more often impose a light penalty as a mere jog to the offender's memory, it can and should reserve the display of its teeth for the habitual or the wanton violator.—Scientific American.

RECOVER STOLEN STOCK AND JEWELS

Three Men Held On Charges Of Robbing Mrs. Waite, Former Prima Donna.

New York, Feb. 21.—Three men were in jail here today, held on charges of robbing Mrs. Olive Celeste Waite, former prima donna of the Bostonian Opera company and divorced wife of a Cincinnati financier, of $100,000 in stock and $7,000 in jewels.

The stock was recovered following the arrest of the trio who gave their names as "Colonel" Omar Macklin, Harry Sautman and Charles Van.

Police charge they entered Mrs. Waite's apartment at the Great Northern hotel here and took the stock and jewels.

The arrests followed a visit paid to Mrs. Waite by Macklin who posed as a Canadian colonel. He told Mrs. Waite of two men visiting his office seeking to sell her $100,000 worth of stock for $25,000. He said he believed he could get her stock back for a $500 reward.

Detectives trailed Macklin. They found him with Sautman in a Broadway hotel.

The two men, according to police, named Van and revealed the hiding place of the loot.

Head Of State Deaf School Not To Quit

Columbus, Feb. 21.—Declaring that he has served 29 years and hopes to finish six more, by which time he will have reached the age of 70 years, and be entitled to retirement, Dr. J. W. Jones, superintendent of the State school for the deaf, has quitted rumors that he planned to resign. He declared he expects to participate in the 100th anniversary of the founding of the institution upon his retirement in 1930.

Greene Is Improved, Fear He Can't Live

Washington, Feb. 21.—A slight improvement was reported this morning in the condition of Senator Frank L. Greene, Republican, of Vermont, who is believed to have been fatally wounded when he was shot during a battle between prohibition agents and bootleggers.

Physicians at the Emergency hospital feared, however, that Greene would not survive the rest of the week.

Alcohol In Radiator Explodes, Physician May Lose Eye Sight

Kenton, Feb. 21.—Use of a lighted match to examine the radiator cap of his auto to determine why it wouldn't start, resulted in a serious explosion for R. G. Schutte, prominent physician and surgeon here, with the loss of his right eye today.

Alcohol fumes from the radiator were exploded by the match and heated hot water and alcohol, into the physician's face.

Lower Temperature Ends Storm Danger

New York, Feb. 21.—A drop in temperature covered the Atlantic seaboard with a sheet of ice today following the passing of the east's worst snow and sleet storm of the season.

Traffic in the big cities, on street cars and subways resumed normal schedules today and it was believed the danger to coast shipping had ceased.

State Aid Granted For County Highway

State aid has been granted by the state highway department on the road from Kensington west for a distance of 1.62 miles, according to a decision just handed down by the department at Columbus. This means that the Lincoln highway west of Kensington will be widened and resurfaced.

Life Imprisonment For Wife Murderer

Columbus, Feb. 21.—Life imprisonment in the sentence given by Common Pleas Judge Powers here to Tracy Woodward, 35 years convicted of murdering his wife, Mary Woodward, Sept. 14, last. He shot her on the street.

Medical Efficiency.

Dr. Leroy C. Crumrine of Omaha attended the medical convention in this city. He was describing the 100 per cent efficiency methods in vogue among the newer Western physicians.

"A patient of mine visited one of these doctors," he said. "After he shook hands with the chief he turned him over to an assistant, who took his history. Next he was hustled into the office of an X-ray specialist. From there he passed to a laboratory technician, then to a blood expert, and finally to the nerve clinic."

"When he returned to the chief doctor he was curtly told the pile of reports showed that there was nothing the matter with him."

"How about my bill?" queried the patient.

"Oh, you must see my accountant for that," replied the doctor, ushering him out.

"Well, really, doctor, I should like to pay you personally," replied the patient, "for then I would have the satisfaction of knowing that you did at least one thing in my case."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Rid Yourself of Rheumatic Pain with New Powder from Italy

Shake In In Your Shoes—No Medicine To Take

Honor is due Alessandro Volta, the great Italian physicist, for his discovery of a powder which possesses the power to relieve the treatment of rheumatism. Already thousands of the most stubborn cases of this terrible disease have been relieved by this amazing new treatment. The old torturing pain has left these chronic sufferers with remarkable rapidity.

VOLTA powder, as this discovery has been named, is not an internal treatment. It is a fine powder which is shaken into the shoes, where it soon immediately is absorbed into the blood, through the pores of the feet—due no doubt, to the fact that the feet contain over 10 times as many pores to the square inch as are found in any other part of the body.

So remarkable and rapid have been the results in the use of Volta powder, both in this country and in Italy, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta with an unqualified guarantee of relief from the use of the very first box. If your money will be refunded, or your money will be returned, if you do not receive wonderful relief.

You can get a box of Volta with an absolute guarantee of quick relief from such good druggists as Leach Drug Co., Holing Pharmacy, Belier & French, Bennett's drug store, Treat's drug store.

Teacher, Mrs. Amanda Allen; first assistant teacher, Mrs. Hannah Nauke; second assistant teacher, Mrs. W. B. Bunn; president, Mrs. F. J. Tate; vice president, Mrs. E. E. Enderlin; secretary, Mrs. H. Anderson; assistant secretary, Mrs. George W. Chappell; treasurer, Miss May Hackett; assistant treasurer, Miss Margaret Shanks. A social period was enjoyed.

Shower For Bride
A shower of beautiful and useful gifts for her new home was bestowed upon Mrs. Judith Jones of this city, who became the bride of Ralph S. Corpeck, Damascus, Thursday, when Miss Ethel McNeelan entertained the girls of the Ashbury class of the M. E. church Wednesday evening at her home, Ellsworth ave. Mrs. Jones is the teacher of this class.

In games which provided entertainment prizes were won by Lucile Stratton, Ruby Weaver and Edith Harris. A lunch was served.

Circle No. 1 Has Party
A very enjoyable social event was held at the M. E. church Wednesday afternoon when Circle 1 gave a party for its members to get together and get acquainted.

The guests were entertained by contests and pleasing vocal solos were given by Miss Mary Louise Melinger and Mrs. L. P. Dronnen, while readings by Mrs. Frank Griffin were well received.

The national colors and Washington's birthday novelties made attractive the tables at which refreshments were served.

U. C. T. Supper
Salem council No. 590, United Commercial Travelers, and its Women's club will have a covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m. Saturday at the hall Main st. It is for members and they are asked to bring their own silverware and dishes.

The regular meetings of these organizations will follow the supper.

HOTEL THIEF GETS $107,000

Mrs. Olive Waite

Mrs. Olive Waite of Paris, France, stopping in a New York hotel, has notified the police that a thief entered her room and stole $107,000 in bonds from her trunk. Mrs. Waite is the divorced wife of Archibald S. Waite, Cincinnati (O.) financier and public utilities owner. They were divorced in 1911. As Olive Celeste Moore, she was widely known as prima donna of the Bostonians, an opera company.

GERMAN RAILWAYS TO PAY INDEMNITY

Paris, Feb. 21.—German railways will pay the most important part of the raising of money for the payment of indemnity, it was learned today. However, the reparations experts are not considering German railway revenues in connection with an international loan nor as security for the proposed German gold mark bank. They regarded the railways as the ultimate channel for the raising of funds after the German budget is balanced and Germany currency is stabilized.

Members of the experts committee pointed out the impracticability of attempting to float a ten billion gold mark mortgage loan. They said the world market was such that the bonds could not be sold at this time.

CLAN CANDIDATE HAS 30,000 LEAD

New Orleans, La., Feb. 21.—With returns almost completely in, Henry Fuqua, Klan candidate for governor, today was leading his opponent, Hewitt Bouchard, by almost 30,000 votes in the Democratic primary. Success in the primary is the equivalent to election.

It was generally thought that Fuqua's lead will be swelled as returns come in from the 129 precincts which have not reported. They are in what was considered Fuqua territory. The vote today stood: Fuqua 119,558, Bouchard 90,654.

KAMELIA SEEKS $25,000 DAMAGE FROM SIMMONS

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 21.—A new phase of litigation growing out of affairs of the Ku Klux Klan and its associated organizations developed today when the Kamelia Inc., women's order of the Klan, filed a $25,000 suit against Col. Wm. Joseph Simmons, charging breach of contract.

The suit was filed in the Fulton county superior court here and also asked an injunction restraining Col. Simmons from taking part in affairs of the Kamelia and from removing himself or his property from Georgia.

Bank Robbers Held As Sheriff's Slayers

Dayton, Feb. 21.—Gov. Dencher will probably be asked today to honor a requisition from Indiana, for the return of Eugene Webb, and Burton Carter, Greenville bank robbers doing a stretch of 25 years in the Ohio penitentiary.

They have been indicted at Brookville, Ind., for the murder of Sheriff Wm. VanCamp last August.

Since the arrests, in connection with the bank robbery Webb made a confession in detail in which he charged Carter with being VanCamp's murderer.

LONG SESSION OF CONGRESS LIKELY

HOUSE HASN'T REALLY STARTED AND SENATE IS BUSY WITH MANY INVESTIGATIONS.

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington.—Predictions are that unless a lance is thrust into the flank of congress it will be found in session during the early cold weather time of next fall. It seems to be assured now that even if speed shall develop congress will sit through the time of the national conventions.

When this is said, the meaning is that it is congress and not congressmen that will do the sitting. There will be just enough members left here to keep up the semblance of organization. The rest will be in or around and about the convention halls. This is what happened in the year 1911 and in one or two other comparatively recent presidential election years.

The house has not started at its real legislative work. A score of obstinate gentlemen are throwing obstructions on the track in front of a locomotive, which hasn't any too much steam up anyway. Whether the obstructionists are right cannot be known, of course, until the days of the future.

Over in the senate things are worse than they are in the house. Some of the senators are engaged today in the of course perfectly proper investigation of the Teapot Dome scandal, while some others are at work trying to prove the wickedness of Edward W. Bok of Philadelphia in asking people to submit plans, one of which possibly might bring peace into the world.

Many Senate Investigations.
The senate as it is viewed here no longer is a legislative body. It has become almost wholly an investigating body. It has seven or eight investigations on its hands today, most of them instigated by a desire of this group or that group, this bloc or that bloc, or this or that larger group to make public its suspicion that somebody or other possibly may have done something wrong. This kind of investigation has been going on in congress ever since the legislators first met. Frequently they have resulted in nothing but a loss of time and money.

The difficulties in the way of legislative progress at the present session are increased materially by the fact that this is a presidential nomination and a presidential election year. Politics plus investigations plus the fact that no party has a majority that it can count upon are placing rocks in the road. The wonder probably is not that Nicholas Longworth, the leader of the Republicans in the house, is accomplishing so little, but that he is accomplishing as much as he is with the conditions that confront him and almost daily confound him.

There seems to be no reason today to change opinion that finally Longworth will succeed in effecting some kind of tax legislative compromise which will secure for a tax reducing bill the sanction of the house and ultimately get the approval of the President, provided, of course, that the senate does not force such changes in the face of the measure that the President will refuse to recognize it as worthy of anything but condemnation.

President Not Disturbed.
Congress has been in session for nearly two months. It apparently has been regarded as an achievement by the two houses that after some eight weeks of "sessioning" they have passed a bill which will allow certain cattle once driven across the line in Mexico to escape the drought to return into this country duty free. Probably this speedy achievement will be one of the legislative acts to which the pointing finger of pride will be directed in the coming campaign.

It is said that President Coolidge is unperturbed by the slowness of things on Capitol hill. He realizes probably that the political party of which he is the nominal head cannot do much in the house so long as certain members of it refuse to stay on the reservation. It may be that President Coolidge sees in obstructive tactics a certain element of strength for his own position on matters of legislation, for generally silent as he is, he has spoken his mind freely upon the matter of the things that he wants done and things he wants to be left undone.

Not many years ago one session of congress continued until it expired by limitation of law, to be succeeded immediately by the second session of the same congress. In other words, congress remained in session until noon of the first Monday in December and the second session began the instant that the first session ended. To all effect or purpose there was one session of congress to last from December of one year until March fourth of the second year thereafter.

It is perhaps unfair to discredit congress, certainly this year, with a do-nothing spirit. The trouble is that some of the members want to do something quickly one way while other members want to do the same thing quickly another way. In the house this year it is not so much a desire to take things easy as it is a desire not to let the other fellow have his way.

Former Miner Cares For King's Robes.

J. E. Davison

With the coming of the first Labor ministry in Great Britain many unique situations have arisen. One of the strangest is the appointment of John E. Davison, for 25 years an iron-miner, and now an official in the iron-founders' society, to be Vice-Chamberlain to the King. His duties consist of looking after the state robes, licensing players, looking after the king's trumpeters and watching the king's messengers and sergeants-at-arms.

RADIO

(Edited by G. Thomas Wardrop, Editor of Radio Merchandising)

The Novel and Interesting Feature of the Circuit is the Semi-Tuned Primary of the Coupler.

Although the disturbance caused by improperly operated receiving sets has been increasing in intensity along with the abnormal growth of the industry the full extent of the interference caused by this one item was never thoroughly realized until the air was cleared recently for the transatlantic broadcasts. From 10 until 10:30 p. m. on the nights allotted to the English transmitting stations it seemed to the casual listener as if every receiving set within 1,000 miles was sending out its own distinctive note, ranging in tone from the guttural of a bass to the chirp of a whist, chirp of a songbird. With these troublesome sounds polluting the ether, reception from England was impossible. Since that time, experts have been busy seeking ways and means to abate the growing evil of radiating receivers, the type of set which causes the trouble.

There are several sets of receivers that can be made to radiate, but the most common of all is the so-called "single circuit receiver." This set is usually distinguished by its variocoupler, the outer coil of which serves as both primary and secondary and the rotor ball as a tickler feedback to control regeneration. If this rotor ball in these sets is turned too far, the receiver emits a squeak which can be heard from one block to a mile, depending on the amount of battery voltage applied to the tube and to the type of tube in use.

There are ways by which the single circuit set can be altered which will make it non-radiating. One of these is to convert it into a three-circuit set by adding a variometer in the plate circuit and using the rotor ball of the coupler as the secondary. If the rotor is kept turned as far as possible consistent with good signal strength, the energy generated by the tube will not be fed across the air space between rotor and stator with sufficient intensity to bother adjacent nerals.

One other method to follow to eliminate this interference, which is constantly on the increase, is to utilize the principle of a semi-aperiodic primary such as is found in the circuit developed by A. J. Haynes of New York City and known as the Haynes circuit.

The diagram on this page shows the simplicity of the tuning and detecting units. The tuner is essentially the same as any variocoupler with the exception of the number of turns of wire on the ball rotor. To work properly this rotor should have only 25 turns. If the coupler is designed on the 180 degree coupling type the functioning will be smoother and the set as a whole more stable.

In addition to the variocoupler as above mentioned this set contains a high-grade variable condenser with a capacity of about .00023 microfarads, or approximately the equivalent of an 11-plate condenser; a rheostat, the resistance of which is determined by the tube and battery used; a fixed mica condenser of .00025 microfarads capacity; a switch and four switch points; a grid leak of 2 megohms; suitable knobs and dials and a quantity of bias bar wiring to connect the various pieces of apparatus.

Once the set has been assembled and connected as shown in the diagram the operation is a simple matter. Merely turn on the filament of the vacuum tube to the proper temperature (dial red for WD11 and WD12 and light yellow for 201A and 197's). If a hissing sound is heard in the phones turn back the rheostat slightly until the hiss disappears. Then turn the dial of the condenser until a broadcasting station is heard. Move the switch on the switch point until the signal comes in loudest and then rotate the rotor ball slowly until the maximum signal strength is obtained. At this point it may be necessary to retune slightly with the variable condenser and perhaps to readjust the filament temperature, but a few hours' operation will make of any operator an expert in the use of the circuit.

Because of the untuned nature of the primary this set will not radiate any continuous waves to interfere with the programs of other receivers. The secondary is sharply tuned, but the primary circuit contains but ten turns of wire. By tuning the secondary the primary is forced into resonance with it, thus making reception possible without radiation.

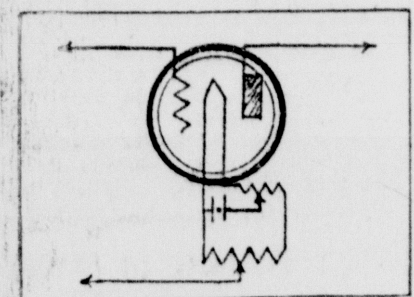

The Haynes set, as in the case of other sets of its type, can be amplified by the simple addition of the proper equipment. A two-stage amplifier, constructed along the usual lines, will work perfectly with this outfit. In such a case the amplifier input is connected in place of the telephone receivers in the diagram. Ordinarily, it is then best to add a small mica condenser of about .001 microfarads capacity directly across the primary terminals of the transformers.

Have Switch in Series With "A" Battery Lead

When a potentiometer is used in a receiver it will usually be found necessary to have a switch in series with the "A" battery lead, so that the resistance, which is shunted across it, does not consume current. An easy way to automatically cut out the potentiometer, without going to the extra expense of a switch, is shown above. It will be noticed that the rheostat does double duty, as it not only varies the brilliancy of the tube but disconnects the potentiometer.

A good and simple way to clean the strands of Bittendrath wire is to first take off the outer insulation with a file and then separate the strands a little and heat them over a suitable burner until they are red hot. Quickly dip them in a little alcohol. You will then see that the strands will be perfectly clean.

If you have a storage battery that is not marked as to polarity, and you are not in the position to test the battery for polarity with salt water, you can easily determine the polarity by careful observation. You will notice that one of the six-volt terminals will appear gray while the other will be a darker. The lighter of the two terminals is the negative.

If you have a variable grid condenser of the small nice variety, you will find it to be very useful as a variocoupler for a portable receiver, since it will occupy very little space as compared to the large bulky at-type condenser.

The gas pipe and a ground will, in most instances, be sufficient for local reception if a tube set be used. Although the signals will not be so loud as on a good outdoor aerial, it will be far better than on the average type of indoor antennae.

Sodium silicate (commonly called water glass) is an excellent binder to keep the wires in place on a coil. It will be found superior to shellac.

Efficient Inductance of Pleasing Appearance

By J. M. Fox

The inductance described herein consists of a coil wound upon six bakelite strips, which are mounted edgewise in two wooden end pieces.

These end supports are made by boring six 24-inch holes at equal distances around a 6-inch circle. The best material to use for this purpose is three-quarter-inch oak. By putting two boards together in a vise both ends may be cut at once. After the holes are bored the waste wood is cut away with a keyhole saw. This will leave six "spokes" in each wooden end, each of which must be slotted to hold the strips of bakelite. The strips have a one-quarter-inch hole bored three-eighths of an inch from each end so that they can be bolted securely in their slots.

The bakelite pieces used are 1-inch wide and 10 inches long. Before assembling, the strips should be put in the vise and slotted every three-sixteenths inch with a hacksaw.

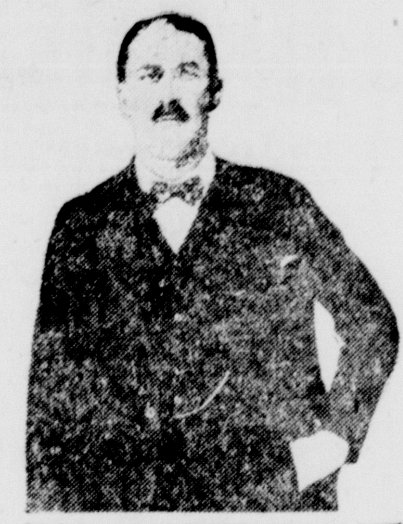

After the framework is assembled, the wire is wound carefully in the slotted edges of the bakelite. No. 10 hard drawn copper wire is ideal for this purpose, but if this is not available No. 8 soft copper will do.

Suitable clips may be made very easily by attaching a 30-ampere switch law to the shell of a Walzer fixture connector.

The unit may be mounted in any position by means of feet cut from sheet brass.

The inductance has a pleasing appearance and most of the materials mentioned can usually be found around the experimenter's workshop.

Dismisses Alimony Case

In common pleas court No. 1 Wednesday, Judge James G. Moore on motion of the plaintiff, through her attorney, Charles S. Speaker, dismissed the alimony action brought by Rebecca A. Miller against Edwin M. Miller.

In the action of Hazel Skeen against Charles C. Skeen, the court made a ruling that the defendant pay his wife $35 within 10 days, and $5 per week until further order of court.

The plaintiff has sued the defendant for divorce, alimony and custody of a child.

A decree has also been handed by Judge Moore in the case of Jacob Seitz of East Liverpool against Florence McManus, constraining the provisions of a will.

125 Cases Disposed Of

Not in years have so many cases been taken from the common pleas court docket as there have been this month, over 125 actions having been either settled out of court or cases disposed of by court ruling.

According to Judge William F. Duncan, who is presiding for the third week in court in this county, it is due to the efforts of Judge James G. Moore in continually keeping after attorneys that the number of cases pending is kept to a minimum.

Weather Bureau Post on Brink of Volcano

A field of activity of the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture that is but little known is the volcano investigations conducted on the island of Hawaii under Dr. T. A. Jaggar, Jr. The permanent scientific staff consists of a volcanologist, a seismologist and a chemist.

Occasionally chemists, geologists, seismologists and physicists, both from the United States and from foreign countries, spend from a few weeks to several months at the volcano observatory, according to a Department of Agriculture bulletin.

The observatory is situated about 4,000 feet above sea level on the brink of Kilauea volcano, which is continually active, with a lake of molten lava. Studies are made not only of that volcano but also of Mauna Loa, nearly 10,000 feet higher, which erupts every five or six years. The eruptions of the two volcanoes are not explosive, but take the form of a rather quiet extrusion of molten lava.

The routine of the station consists in daily observation and photography of the fire pit, frequent surveys to determine the height of the lava, care of several seismographs and interpretation of seismograms. The seismograms give the distance and direction of earthquakes—five or six occur each week—and indicate the amount of subsidence or subsidence of the entire mountain top. From these seismographic data forecasts of volcanic activity from two or three hours to several days in advance are often made.

Machine That Plants 15,000 Trees a Day

Machines have been devised to do many things, but one of the most remarkable is used by the United States forest service, which sets out seedling trees ten times as fast as the old hand-planting method.

Its capacity is from 12,000 to 15,000 trees a day. It is an adaptation of a machine made to set out tomato and cabbage plants, and it takes three men and two horses to operate it at capacity.

In appearance the tree planter is something like a mowing machine, says the London Tit-Bits. It has a plowshare arrangement in front, and at the back of the feeder are two metal wheels, which push earth around the tree seedling and pack it down. Two men seated beside the driver are kept busy placing the seedlings in the planting hopper.

Extra features of the tree planter include a marker that indicates where the next row is to go, and two hoppers containing water and fertilizer that drop the nutrient for the young trees around their roots just before the metal wheels fill in the furrow.

Coon a Good Fighter

Frank Davis of Augusta was injured and four of the best trail hounds in a pack of 20 were killed in a battle with a raccoon, eight miles east of Latham, Kan. Davis and several other Augustans saw the coon in a large tree. Two of the men climbed the tree to punch the coon out of the branches. After a half hour's hard work in the tree 50 feet from the ground, the coon climbed down, closely followed by the men, who chased him over the Flint hills. He was captured by Bill Reetz and Davis, the later receiving a painful wound on the left arm from the sharp teeth of the animal. While unloading him from a truck at Latham the coon escaped, making a clean getaway to the river. A pack of 20 coon hounds was put on his trail and followed by the men. The coon was finally captured a second time, during which Davis narrowly escaped with his life and four dogs were killed.—Topeka Capital.

Quake Aided Industries

Many Japanese industries which were running on a part-time basis prior to the earthquake have been stimulated to capacity production by the increased demand that has followed the earthquake. Cotton spinning and weaving mills, sawmills, galvanized sheet-iron plants, copper manufacturers, and breweries are all running at capacity whereas before the disaster many units of these industries were closed down altogether while others were running part time.

Bet He Passed

The doctor was examining Bosworth, a hospital corps man, for advancement in rating.

"What would you do if the captain fainted on the bridge?"

"Bring him to," warbled the aspiring corps.

"Then what?" asked the doctor.

"Bring him two more," returned the gob.—Naval Weekly.

His Progress

"Howdy, Gap?" saluted an acquaintance. "How's everything coming along with you?"

"Well, I'll—tell you, Mort," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "I'm so thundering fur behind with my fishing that I'dogged if I don't reckon I'll have to do a good deal of it through holes in the ice."

Dad's Experience

"Dad, what's a monologue?" asked Bob.

"A monologue is a conversation between husband and wife," said Father.

"I thought that was a dialogue!"

"No; a dialogue is where two persons are speaking."

WOMAN'S GREATEST ASSET
Health is woman's greatest asset. Upon it depends her charm, beauty, power to attract others, happiness and success, and it is what really makes life worth living. Thousands of women suffer from headaches, backache, nervousness, mental depression and mysterious pains, who could find immediate relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which is made from roots and herbs. For nearly half a century this medicine has been recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Andrew Jackson Smoked.
It is not known that any "first lady of the land" smoked while she was in the White House, but it is well-authenticated fact that Mrs. Andrew Jackson smoked habitually in her home near Nashville, Tenn. James Parton, Jackson's biographer, says it was no uncommon occurrence for Jackson and his wife to sit for hours before their fire, each smoking a pipe. However, this is no reflection on Mrs. Jackson, because among the early settlers of the Southwest many respectable women smoked pipes and thought nothing of it.

Mrs. Jackson, before her marriage, was Rachel Donelson, daughter of one of the most respected men in the early history of Tennessee.

RULES EMPLOYER CAN NOT RETAIN EMPLOYEE'S WAGE

Columbus, Feb. 21.—Manufacturing companies in Ohio cannot retain wages of any employee for any length of time, Attorney General Crabbe ruled today. He stated, also, that the law requiring that wages be paid twice a month must be complied with.

The attorney general's ruling was the result of inquiry by Herman K. Witter, director of industrial relations, growing out of contracts entered into with certain manufacturing companies seeking to retain a week's wages of girl employees and minors for 12 weeks.

Holding of wages of minor, the attorney general warned, "is dangerous" because imprisonment of six months and a fine of $200 for each offense is provided by law.

WARSHIP BUILDING PROGRAM ADOPTED BY GREAT BRITAIN

United States Left Behind In Development Of Naval Strength.

London, Feb. 21.—The British cabinet today decided to carry out the navy construction program previously agreed upon and will probably begin work upon six new cruisers immediately.

The labor government, while favoring disarmament, believes that construction of additional warships will help to relieve the unemployment situation.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The United States is being left behind in the development of naval strength to the full extent authorized by the Washington conference treaty, naval authorities said today, in commenting on dispatches from London reporting British building.

While the United States has made no plans for the construction of new tonnage in the classes of ships exempt under the treaty, Great Britain has launched off an ambitious ten year program, calling for construction of 52 light cruisers of 10,000 tons each and Japan also is forging rapidly ahead despite financial hindrances caused by the earthquake.

Japan has now building or has authorized eight cruisers, 25 destroyers and 38 submarines.

Even France and Italy, the inferior powers under the conference treaty, are building more than the United States. The French government has authorized the construction of nine new submarines and a more extensive program is now before the French parliament.

The Italian program calls for 20 new submarines and 20 destroyers, with both auxiliary craft.

These figures have just been compiled by the navy department. Naval officials pointed to them today in contrast to the refusal of congress to permit sufficient building to keep the American navy up to the 5-5-3 ratio.

A Blank Mortgage For 150 Millions Is Filed By Power Co.

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 21.—A blank mortgage for $150,000,000 was filed in office of the county clerk here today by the Virginia Power company. The mortgage was given to the Bankers Trust Co., of New York, and covers realty holdings of company in Summers, Raleigh and Kanawha counties, and was made for the purpose of financing the construction of a huge water power project on New River above Hinton.

Issuances of registered and coupon bonds to the amount of the mortgage is provided. The bonds are to bear 6 1/2 per cent interest.

Carter Seeks Court Writ Permitting Him To Resume His Work

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 21.—Counsel for Howard Carter went into court today seeking a writ to prohibit the Egyptian government from breaking open the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen. The attorney also requested an order permitting Carter to resume his exploration of the tomb.

M. Lacan, director of antiquities in the Egyptian government, has not yet gone to Luxor but has issued orders for the tomb to be re-opened. Additional measures have been taken to protect the contents.

DAVIS WOULDN'T CRITICIZE GRANT

INTERESTING LETTER WRITTEN IN 1885 SHOWS HOW TIME HEALS ALL WOUNDS.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Washington recently helped unofficially in the celebration of the birthdays of Robert E. Lee and Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson. Shortly it will celebrate also the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, unofficially, because the Emancipator's natal day is not yet a legal holiday in the District of Columbia. Congress probably will set the day aside as a holiday at this session.

Veterans of the Union army participated in the quiet exercises held in memory of Lee and Jackson and veterans of the Confederate army will join in commemorating the birthday of the man who was president during the strife between the states. Time surely is the healer that the saying makes it.

The department of archives and history of the state of Mississippi recently has issued a ten-volume edition of the letters and papers of Jefferson Davis who was the president of the Confederacy. Among the letters is one written in 1885, four years prior to the death of Mr. Davis, to a newspaper man in Boston who had requested Mr. Davis to pass judgment upon General Ulysses S. Grant's military career. Here is the letter:

"Dear Sir: Your request on behalf of a Boston journalist for me to prepare a criticism on General Grant's military career cannot be complied with for the following reasons:

"1. General Grant is dying.
"2. Though he invaded our country ruthlessly, it was with open hand, and, as far as I know, he abetted neither arson nor pillage, and has, since the war, I believe, shown no malignity to Confederates, either of the military or civil service.

"Therefore, instead of seeking to disturb the quiet of his closing hours, I would, if it were in my power, contribute to the peace of his mind and the comfort of his body.

"JEFFERSON DAVIS."
The Boston Herald, in commenting on this letter, after saying that it has no knowledge of the identity of the journalist who wrote to Mr. Davis, declares that of the quality of the letter there can be no doubt. It adds: "Reading it today stirs agreeable emotions."

Few Alive Who Knew Lincoln.

There died recently in Cleveland, at the age of eighty-seven, George Senyard, who it is said was a close friend of Abraham Lincoln, having accompanied him during his series of debates with Stephen A. Douglas over the slavery issue. Senyard was an artist and one of his portraits of Lincoln is now in Springfield, Ill.

Men who knew Abraham Lincoln personally are for the most part dead. Nearly every man who was in public life with him has gone to the beyond. A woman who knew him quite well died in Washington about a year ago—Mrs. John A. Logan.

Shelby M. Cullom, United States senator from Illinois, has been dead for some years. He was associated with Lincoln in public life. There is one man well-known throughout the country who entered on a political and official career in his home state before Lincoln died and who had personal acquaintance with the war-time president. This man is Joseph G. Cannon, who, until last March, was a member of the lower house of congress, and who is now living in his home at Danville, Ill.

Colcord and Blondin.

George Senyard, who just died and who painted a portrait of Lincoln, was not the only artist who knew him when he was a lawyer in Springfield. Not long ago there died in Chicago a man named Henry Colcord, who was a photographer's assistant in Springfield, when Lincoln lived there. Colcord preserved one of the early photographs of Lincoln and it was found in later years that no other copy of it existed. From it and from memory Colcord years after Lincoln's death painted a compelling picture of the Emancipator.

The life of Henry Colcord, the photographer's assistant, was certainly a picturesque one. When he was about twenty years of age he happened to be at Niagara Falls at a time when Blondin, the tight rope walker, was to attempt to walk above the rapids on a rope, carrying a man on his back.

Young Colcord volunteered for the trip and twice he was carried across the chasm on the back of the tight-rope walker. When he had completed his second journey, Erastus Corning, then president of the New York Central railroad, gave young Colcord $1,000 for his pluck and told him he would give him another thousand if he would not risk his life again.

The Last Straw

Recently a tramp taken up in a New York police court gave his birthplace as Boston.

"Yours," said the magistrate, "is a sad case. Yet you don't seem to thoroughly realize how low you have sunk."

"The prisoner struck his brow with a pained gesture. 'Heavens!' he exclaimed devoutly. 'I have stood many indignities, but to be sentenced by a magistrate that splits his indignities! This is the last blow!'"

COMMON COLD IS BEING STUDIED

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE TRYING TO DETERMINE MEANS OF OVERCOMING IT.

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington.—If the people of the United States are not interested in the subject of "colds" they are mentally deficient, according to Washington statistics, continually are suffering.

The public health service is making a survey of what is called the "health habits" of 20,000 persons living in various parts of the United States. The army and navy authorities and the authorities of the various universities throughout the country are showing an interest in the subject and are working with the officials of the public health service in an effort to find out why people contract diseases when they might avoid them and why "colds" are so frequent. Of course the whole thing leads up to an attempt to "overcome colds."

The belief is in Washington that the attempt to find out all about "colds," their constant recurrence and the reason therefor, is based on a sort of a resentment which has become articulate among the people of the world in recent years because while medical science seems to have been able to overcome virtually every other form of human ailment or to prevent it, the "common cold" still hangs on, progresses and seemingly defies the attempt of science to give it the knockout blow.

Not long ago a Washington man interested in this subject of colds approached his family physician on the subject, asking this:

"Why is it that you doctors who can take a man's insides out, repair them and put them back, who have overcome smallpox, yellow fever, typhoid, typhus and have given tuberculosis a hard run for its continued existence, and who have done things almost miraculous, never have been able and seemingly never will be able to cure a common cold?"

Doctors Blame the People.
The reply of the physician who thus was attacked with the personal, pertinent or perhaps impertinent question was this:

"We can cure colds, or at least we can help them, but we can't prevent people from taking cold because they won't take the common precautions against this pestilence, for that is what it is that stalketh by day and by night, by dawn and by twilight."

Dr. J. G. Townsend of the public health service is chief of its "flu" section. He has charge of the work of investigation. According to the Washington Post, Doctor Townsend is unable to make as yet a comprehensive survey of the results, but he points out "that about thirty-five per cent of the persons enrolled in the study have colds continually." The survey further shows that the number of colds mounted continually during October and November and had a slight drop in December.

Doctor Townsend attributes the upsurge in colds in October and November to football, saying that many persons go to football games in these months and subject themselves to unfavorable climatic conditions. Naturally the large number does not know much about these things and possibly it is unwise to venture any kind of an opinion, but service in France in the A. E. F. in the year 1918, a part of the time at the front and a part of the time at the rear, proved to the satisfaction of the writer that the men who were serving in the open, or virtually in the open, no matter how much exposed they were to the elements, were not as much afflicted with colds and influenza as were the men who were housed in considerable numbers in barracks or in billets.

Cold Air Thought Curative.

The open air treatment for throat and lung troubles was not thought of at all until about fifty years ago when Doctor Trudeau undertook the treatment of tubercular patients in the bracing outdoor climate of the Adirondacks. It was not long thereafter that the medical profession recognized that pure air, even if it was cold, was better than warm impure air.

Within the past fifty years patients suffering from lung and throat troubles have not been molly-coddled as they were in other days. They have been kept warm, of course, but the cold air which once was thought deadly to them is now thought to be curative in its properties.

As the matter is set forth in the article from the paper above quoted, it is said that the public health service already has established communication with 12,000 individuals and with 1,800 families, and is receiving reports every two weeks. The individuals are chosen principally from colleges. It being said that officials of the service feel that it will be easier to make comparisons "between persons similarly situated," and in addition, that the college students are in a position to give intelligent reports upon their ailments.

Boy Scout Movement.

In a decade the boy scout movement has become known, and its value in training the character of the boy recognized throughout the length and breadth of the land. Already the boy scouts have a recognized and valuable place in every community—New Haven (Conn.) Register.

Course For Teachers
The teachers of the local schools met in the South Side school Monday night in the capacity of a class taking the Teacher's Extension course. A teacher from Kent has been secured to teach the class.

Reveling Meetings End
The two weeks' series of reveling meetings held at Methodist church closed on Sunday night with a Sunday school rally which proved a great success. The services throughout were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Wykoff, with the exception of one night when Rev. Everett, educator, traveler and student on "Science and Religion," was present and spoke to a full house.

Attendance Contest
The local Kiwanis club has taken a plan to increase the attendance of its members at the weekly luncheons. The club has been divided into sides with Don Hasbrouck and Dr. Jennings King as captains. At the close of a certain period to be decided upon, the side having the largest per cent of attendance will be given a banquet by the losing side.

R. Coleman was pointed out as the last man at the switch, therefore he was charged with neglect of duty and dismissed from the employ of the company.

Build New Cottage At State Hospital

Massillon, Feb. 21.—Work will begin on the $75,000 cottage to be erected at the Massillon State hospital, early in the spring. State architects have gone over the plot of the building and plans are waiting for spring weather to arrive so that work may begin.

The cottage will be similar to the receiving cottage located at the extreme north end of the hospital grounds, and will be for men only. The present receiving cottage will house the women patients entering the institution. The new structure will be located at a point near to that of the present receiving cottage.

Candidate Would Cut Prices, Raise Wages, Stop War and Jail Daugherty

Bridgeville, Pa., Feb. 21.—Every now and then a candidate for office comes out with a card showing a slight variation of the time worn "Your vote and support is respectfully solicited," but John W. Hedderich, Jr., is passing one around that is admitted to be entirely original. Hedderich's card is about three by five inches and tells everything from the pronunciation of his name to all the details of his platform. He would like to go to congress.

On the face of the card is Hedderich's picture and the note that the name is pronounced "Headrick." He says he is a "Lafayette Progressive," was drafted and served overseas with a unit of the 50th division. After that statement in capital letters are the words, "Not a shave tail." Beneath his picture is the statement, "I was born the year of the battle of Homestead, when labor was defeated by capital." The platform which he announces is, he says, "what you will get after you clean the tools of Big Business out of office." The platform follows in part:

Five cent sugar all the year round.

Five cent beer same as before the war.

Seven cent gasoline, same as in California.

Five cent car fares and free transfers.

Two cent phone calls, same as first class letter.

Lower railroad rates, higher railroad wages.

More pay for clerks, less profits for companies.

No injunctions, jail for Daugherty.

Stop immigration, keep up wages.

No war, richest man first over the top.

Legally tresspass anyone who dares to interfere with enforcement of law as enacted by congress.

In a foot note he explains the use of the new verb tresspass by telling that he was the chief justice of the "supreme court of England who was hanged for declaring unconstitutional a law passed by parliament and the other members of the court were banished from the kingdom."

In another prominent foot note he

OFFER PRIZE FOR NAME OF CATHOLIC ORPHANAGE GROUP

Since the recent announcement of the Catholic Charities Corporation that construction will begin this spring on its 150-acre site at Parma, where a modern group of cottages to care for all the orphans of the diocese is to be built, there has been some speculation for a fitting name for this new haven for the unfortunate children.

The interest manifested by the corporation's 30,000 members, resulted in the appointment of a naming committee composed of three trustees of the corporation, D. J. Champion, chairman, M. F. Barret and J. B. Walberding. The committee decided that every one in the community, particularly the members of the corporation and their families be invited to help select an appropriate name for the group which will be one of the most complete of its kind in the country, located in Parma, O., on a beautiful site approved by H. Har' of the Russell Sage Foundation, New York, and other experts in Child Welfare.

The committee's announcement names five cash prizes with $100 for the first prize. The naming contest rules are simple, the only condition being that no name is wanted that savors of "Home," "Asylum" or "Retreat." The contest opens at once and winners will be announced by the committee on or about May 1. Suggestions should be addressed to the "Home committee, The Catholic Charities Corporation, 704 Century Building, 414 Superior ave., West, Cleveland, O."

He Would Conscript Nation's Wealth And Man Power For War

Washington, Feb. 21.—Conscription of the nation's entire wealth and man power for service in time of war was proposed in a bill offered in the senate by Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas.

The bill had the endorsement of the American Legion and is said to embody the views of the late President Harding.

The measure is designed to prevent exploitation and profiteering in time of war.

Compensation Funds Will Go Into Bonds

Columbus, Feb. 21.—Money paid into workmen's compensation fund is to be deposited in active depositaries and invested in county and municipal bonds as rapidly as possible, the state treasurer today announced. Secretary of State Brown from some source has received $5,800,000 from this source.

GOOD-BY TO CLOTHES MOTH

Scientists Said to Have Discovered Preparation Fatal to That Household Pest.

The clothes moth, which it is estimated destroys ten thousand tons of wool each year, may be absolutely controlled by the use of a new chemical called "Eulan F," which may be used in wool finishing. The substance is harmless to human beings, but wool impregnated with it is not eaten by the larvae of the moth except when starvation threatens, and it is then speedily fatal. The chemical has been prepared by the dye works of Leverkusen at Lema, Germany, by Doctor Meckbach and his collaborators.

Although it is preferably applied to the woolen article during or after the finishing process in the factory, it may be added subsequently to the completed goods by soaking them in a cold 2 per cent solution, or it may be sprayed on. The goods are then rinsed with pure water; and the Eulan finish is then said to be permanent for three or four household washings before needing renewal. A similar process may be used with furs.

The success of the new preparation, which is claimed by its inventors to be complete, comes after many years of experiment. It was noted 50 years ago that wool dyed green was safe from moths, and this was later shown to be due to the use of pigment called "Marius Yellow" in the dye. It remained then to find a chemical which would have this effect on the caterpillar, but be odorous and without effect on the color, or finish of the goods. This the inventors say, they have done and that tests extending over several years have demonstrated the efficacy of this remedy against this great enemy of the careful housewife, against which the sole protection had previously been a kind of gas attack through the use of strong-smelling chemicals.

SULPHUR CLEARS UP ROUGH OR RED SKIN

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm. It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Top o' the head shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowle's Mentho-Sulphur from any druggist and use it like cold cream.

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

FIRST GAMES OF CAGE TOURNEY TO START TOMORROW

Class B District Meet To Begin At 1:30 Friday
In Columbiana Gym.

The first games to be played in the district Class B basketball tourney at Columbiana Friday afternoon were drawn last night in the office of E. A. King, principal of Columbiana high school. Four teams met byes. The four games that will be played in the afternoon session from 1:30 until 5 o'clock are:

Lebanon vs Springfield townships; Sebring vs East Palestine; Rogers vs Columbiana; Fairfield vs Salem.

At 7:30 p. m. Friday the other preliminary games will be played, and the winners of the afternoon games will play semifinals, making four games. The preliminary games will be Sebring vs Boardman and Lebanon vs Lisbon.

At 9:30 a. m. Saturday the winners of the Friday semi-final games will play and at 1:30 the finals will be played. The Saturday afternoon games will be preceded by a clash between the Columbiana Girls and East Palestine Girls in an exhibition game.

All games except the finals will be seven minute quarters, one minute between quarters and one one-half will be played at a time, two other teams taking the floor while the first two rest until the first half of the second game is played, and so on.

Eight minute quarters and two minutes between will be the rule in the final game.

All Games will be played in the Columbiana gym, and two Cleveland officials will have charge. Special preparations for spectators from out of town are being made by Columbiana school heads.

RICKARD DEMANDS AN INVESTIGATION

New York, Feb. 21.—I not only welcome an investigation, I demand one," Tex Rickard declared today in reply to charges made by Promoter Tom O'Rourke that he had engaged in ticket speculation on the Dempsey-Firpo bout in connivance with a local broker.

"They are talking about bringing the case before the state athletic commission. That is exactly what I want. The commission knows all about the Dempsey-Firpo tickets. All tickets left over were turned in to the commission and have been in its hands ever since, so far as I know."

"It is a joke to accuse me of speculating. The tickets I tried to dispose of through the agency were put on sale at reduced prices."

CUMBERLAND, MD. WANTS DEMPSEY AND WILLS BOUT

New York, Feb. 21.—The hustling, bustling town of Cumberland, Md., today entered a bid for a Dempsey-Wills heavyweight championship bout, through the agency of John Snyder.

At least, John says it did. He is here, so he says, for the laudable purpose of persuading Tex Rickard to take over the promotion of this enterprise and others. Included in the latter is the proposed return engagement between Dempsey and Firpo.

Snyder claims that Gov. Ritchie has indicated official tolerance towards the two bouts and will not be a party to any interference, premature or belated. He also declares that he has the backing of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, the mayor, the fraternal orders and the town, in toto.

Five years ago when Rickard was casting about for a spot on which to stage the Willard-Dempsey affair, he wavered between Cumberland and Toledo before selecting the latter.

Salem High Teams Leave For Warren

The Salem High Boys and Girls cage teams leave at 5:30 tonight for Warren where they will meet the Warren High squads in two games, the first starting at 7:30 p. m.

While the Boys team is in fine shape, injuries and sickness have cut a swath in the Girls six, but that team will put up a great battle, however.

First Giant Squad Leaves For South

New York, Feb. 21.—The first detachment of New York Giants left Wednesday in the midst of a blizzard, for their spring training camp at Zarahota, Fla., chaperoned by Judge Francis X. McQuade, treasurer of the club.

Bill Ryan is the only regular in the party.

Views On Outlawing War

Editor of The News:

In a recent editorial on the subject "Stand by the Army," these states that "The standing and efficiency of the army is our best assurance of peace," and that "all wars have been fought around, about, for or in defense of women," therefore it is "absurd" for women to attempt to outlaw war.

Are all wars fought for women? Very, very few of them have been started for the protection of women. Then for what were they waged? The lust of power, of wealth, covetousness, greed, selfishness, for these have almost all wars been fought. Was Napoleon fighting for women? Was the Russo-Japanese war fought for women? Have any wars of conquest or any civil wars been fought for women? Probably some civil wars have, but was our own? State Rights, wasn't it? For whom are the Mexican wars fought? Was the Great war started for the benefit of women? Most assuredly not. Some one was seeking for more power, some one coveted his neighbor's property. It does not matter so much who the individual was but no womanly woman will accept the statement that it was started for her.

But if we could grant that the protection of women has been the reason for all wars, then it seems to me no one has a better right to urge a less destructive and horrible method for their protection than these same women. They would be the most selfish of creatures if they were willing to obtain protection at such terrible cost to their husbands, brothers, lovers, and their innocent children. If there is a better way, U. S. Grant said: "There never was a time when, in my opinion, some way could be found to prevent the drawing of the sword."

Is the "army our best assurance of peace" and protection. In 1797, Thomas Jefferson said: "War is not the best engine for us to resort to. Nature has given us one in our commerce, which, if properly managed, will be a better instrument for obliging the nations of Europe to treat us with justice." Again he wrote: "I love peace and I am anxious that we should give the world still another useful lesson by showing them other modes of punishing injuries than by war which is as much a punishment to the punisher as to the sufferer." When the war of 1812 threatened, "President Madison did all in his power to prevent it but was overruled by a few fiery spirits who declared war in opposition to a large minority vote in congress and the better sentiment of the country."

That war could have been prevented. Was the "army the best assurance of peace" then? Again these says the amendment to outlaw war "could never be adopted until humanity has experienced a thorough regeneration," because until that time we cannot get along without war.

Graduate Nurse Finds "The Perfect Remedy"

Graduate of National Temperance Hospital
Tells of Remarkable
Cases Where TAN-
LAC Has Proved Effective.

"From my long experience as a professional nurse, I do not hesitate to say I consider TANLAC the most efficient and natural stomach medicine and tonic to be had. It is undoubtedly Nature's most perfect remedy," is the far reaching statement given out for publication, recently by Mrs. L. A. Borden, Seattle, Wash., a graduate of the National Temperance hospital of Chicago.

"I have used TANLAC often in treatment of my patients and my experience has been that for keeping the best stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning properly, and for out war, in the long past, even in our own country, each man thought it necessary to protect his family by his gun. Why not now? Because laws have been passed giving better protection by outlawing crime. The editorial in question pre-supposes that only the innocent are bound by law, is that a fact? If so, shame on our courts of justice! In savage tribes, men murder for their women but we have outlawed that. Saloon keepers sold liquor that their wives, daughters and sweethearts might live in luxury but we outlawed the saloon for the safety of other women and the men. Some men rob that they may buy jewels for women, yet we have outlawed theft. Men lie to gain favors for the women of their choice yet civilized countries call that a crime when innocent victims suffer therefrom. Therefore surely there is nothing incongenious in outlawing war which combines in tenfold more horrible form all these crimes against humanity. I firmly believe that the time will come when war, too, will be outlawed.

When, I know not; but God is good and "war is hell." Near the close the editorial has this statement: "Most of the current peace proposals are absurd, for they do not make America the object of first and dominant consideration." My answer to that is taken from the words of our Saviour to his disciples: "Whoever will save his life shall lose it; but whoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it. TELLS OF CASE

"About a year ago I had a lady patient who could not keep a thing on her stomach fifteen minutes, not even water. I prevailed on her to try TANLAC and after the sixth bottle she could eat absolutely anything she wanted without the slightest bad after effects.

"I had another patient who simply could not eat. I got him started on TANLAC and by the time he finished three bottles he was eating ravenously and had regained sufficient strength to return to work.

"These two instances are typical of my experience with TANLAC. My confidence in TANLAC is unlimited. TANLAC IS FOR SALE BY ALL GOOD DRUGGISTS. OVER 40 MILLION BOTTLES SOLD. ACCEPT NO SUBSTITUTE.

"BETTER HOMES" MOVEMENT BEGUN

HOOVER AND OTHERS ORGANIZE TO TEACH PEOPLE HOW TO LIVE MORE COMFORTABLY.

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington.—One of the minor grievances of Theodore Roosevelt against his successor in the White House, William Howard Taft, was that the rural life commission brought into existence by the colonel was allowed by his successor to pass away. Its report never was printed by the government.

It is a long while ago now, but there are some persons who will remember that Roosevelt's desire was to increase the comforts of country living in the United States, to find means to make more contented the people who were living at a distance from the populous centers, and to do other things in behalf of the ruralite.

There was some resentment at the time the appointment of the commission was suggested, but it died away, and when a few of the findings had been given place in the public prints there was general applause of the effort.

The report of the rural life commission finally was printed by private subscription, but it never received the circulation that would have been given it if the government had put it out as a public document.

Now there has been incorporated a noncommercial organization with Herbert Hoover as president for the purpose of securing better homes for all the people of the United States who need them. This effort is not to be confined to the rural communities where, as a matter of fact, many if not most of the homes are better than those to be found in the cities.

Better Homes Week Announced.
Dr. James Ford, now on leave of absence from Harvard university, is the executive director of the organization. His aim is "to help the man of small income to learn how to live in more comfort, more health, and with more certainty that his children will regard the home as the center of interest."

The week of May 11-18 has been designated as a Better Homes Week. Communities are being organized on a nationwide scale to prepare exhibits of homes properly planned, built and furnished. It is said that no commercial features of any kind will attend the exhibits and that all efforts will be confined to services for the individual home owners in the communities at large.

To the guide book of the Better Homes plan Herbert Hoover has written a foreword. He says among other things:

"There is danger that the shortage of homes which was occasioned by the great war and the increasing drift to the cities may deprive an increasingly large portion of our population of the inestimable values which lie in the true homes. Through organizations, however, it is possible to increase the amount of available housing. It is possible and desirable also to maintain and develop high standards, not only of safety, convenience and comfort, but also of privacy and beauty, which may be expressed in the house itself, its equipment and its surroundings."

"One definite objective," Doctor Ford said in outlining the purposes of the movement, "will be the inclusion in high school curricula of required courses in home-making and the care of a home. The one sure product of every school is an army of men and women who will head homes, yet for this most important function in life there is often not even a pretense of practical training."

Bits of Valuable Advice.
A host of simple but collectively important ways to improve small homes are being recommended by the group behind the new organization that aided informally in the setting up of approximately 1,000 Better Homes exhibits in 1923.

Here are some of the prosaic bits of advice:

Put the kitchen sink under a window so that the homemaker may enjoy the fresh air and the beauty of nature while engaged at necessary household tasks.

Put rollers on the kitchen table and save about fifteen miles of walking a month for the housewife.

Place your bed in relation to the bedroom windows so that you can have plenty of fresh air without a draft.

Dedicate the sunny south bedroom to your children instead of to occasional guests.

Build your house so that the living room and dining room constitute one big room. Then your daughter can have dances, parties and other social events at home instead of somewhere else.

Give the housewife the share of the living expense money which should come under her jurisdiction, and let her be responsible for the budgeting of it.

Woman Has Big Job

One of the most important municipal positions filled by a woman in the United States is that of Miss Nell J. Roche, who holds the office of comptroller of the city of Nashville.

Wanted to Beat Her to It

"Why do you drink so much water, Edwin?" asked a mother of her five-year-old son.

Clean Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup." A teaspoonful never fails to clean the liver and bowels. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

AMERICA NOT INDIFFERENT

By FRANCIS H. SISSON,
Chairman, Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

While the facts justify the belief that the financial and general economic strength of the United States is so great that it creates a stability here which cannot be seriously shaken by the adverse conditions in Europe, it still remains true that an attitude of indifference to these distressing conditions is unworthy of the American people. In fact, I believe that such indifference does not exist. The nation is observing with deep interest the progress of events abroad and has given many evidences of a readiness to aid in restoring normal conditions there whenever it is seen that a suitable opportunity is afforded.

Our people have naturally been reluctant to act while the European nations still fail to display the will to accept the only terms on which rehabilitation is possible, and to abandon their mutual hatreds and distrusts, their persistence in preparation for further warfare, and their destructive political and financial policies. Such policies have so weakened the credit of some of the continental nations that the task of aiding them seems futile until it is clear that these policies are discredited and disowned by them.

Although it seems clear from the record of recent years that America, more perhaps than any other country, has been and will continue to be able to adjust itself without serious disaster to the conditions created by European depression, and has in its own vast domestic market and in other non-European markets an outlet for its products adequate to maintain a fair degree of national prosperity, the fact remains that it is very definitely to the selfish interests of the United States to have Great Britain and the European continental countries regain their normal prosperity at the earliest possible date. They normally absorbed between 60 and 70 per cent of American exports, but recently have been taking less than 50 per cent.

Moreover, the rich contribution which Europe has made in the past to the upbuilding of other parts of the world, including the United States, would seem to create a genuine obligation upon other countries to come to its aid in the present period of difficulty. General well-being throughout the entire world will be diminished to a degree as long as Europe is unable to play its part in production and consumption of valuable products. It possesses vast resources of skill and equipment for the production of useful commodities in demand by all nations, and loss continues while these resources are limited in their use by poverty and by adverse political and social conditions. That the share of the United States in this loss is relatively small should not preclude an active interest in every promising effort that may be made to restore the European nations to economic and financial health.

For Community Betterment

The Committee on Agriculture of the Missouri State Bankers Association has sent out a questionnaire to all members to secure a frank opinion as to what are the most important community problems to be solved in the state. The questionnaire covers bank deposits, crops, schools, manufacturing, roads, junior club work, agricultural agencies co-operative agencies, farm abandonment, land values, finances, dairying, and social life, with a view in determining what work should be undertaken for the year.

DOHENY COMMENTS ON INVESTIGATION OF TEAPOT LEASES

Sees Attempt To Run The American People Off Their Feet.

New York, Feb. 21.—"A lot of people are trying to run the American people off their feet in the investigation of the naval oil reserve leases," E. L. Doheny, head of the Pan American Petroleum company, was quoted as saying in an interview in the Wall Street Journal today.

"When I was on the stand in Washington," he said, "it reminded me of old times in the west when one of our dogs at mating season joined wolves—the wolves would surround our camp at night and I could hear my own dog barking among the wolves as they howled around us. It seemed at Washington I could hear the bark of my own friends in a pack of political wolves."

Questioned about his testimony that he expected to realize a profit of $100,000,000 on naval reserve No. 1 in California, Doheny admitted this was possible.

"Other related facts have been lost sight of," Doheny said. "Such a profit might be realized in 20 to 25 years by intelligent handling by one who is willing to make investments of a minimum of say $125,000,000 with the understanding that the maximum investment required may be as much as $500,000,000."

Political Investigation

New York, Feb. 21.—"It looks like a political investigation to me," was the only comment Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire American oil producer, would make concerning the naval oil lease investigation in Washington which involves him as a central figure.

Sinclair did not seem to be deeply concerned over the revelations made at the senatorial investigation.

A salvo of questions was fired at the oil magnate but he refused to answer them. He refused to say whether he would voluntarily give back the lease granted to him for oil production at Teapot Dome.

Welcomes Examination
New York, Feb. 21.—Harry H. Benard, managing partner of the firm of J. P. Benard & Co., brokers, declared that the examination into the firm's books by an expert sent here by the senate oil probe committee was progressing rapidly and that he welcomed the investigation.

"I am glad to give publicity to every entry in our books," he said. "Nothing can be found that has any bearing on the pool alleged in Washington to have been made up here."
